

WOW

November 1st 2015

..... enjoys looking at story books in the quiet area. She held the book the correct way and turned each page in turn, even lifting the flaps to look at what is behind it. As looked at the story book, you could hear her talking about what she was able to see. Later that day, we planned an activity with animals, talking about their names and the noises which they make